MOLL, Tobias Mortimer Son of Tobias and Henrietta Moll, of Welbeloond Farm, Potsdam, Cape Province. b. July 20, 1890. A South African rugby union player from Cape Town. According to a fellow soldier of the time: "We were now out of that nightmare wood in what was once a village - the village of Bazentin-le-Petit, and the day was 13 July. We had achieved our objective, and fondly believed that the Germans were on their way back to Berlin. We received orders to consolidate. The village was a shambles and nothing remotely resembling a house was to be seen. Here I came across an old friend from Hamilton's, Toby Moll, who told me that Cyril Bam had been killed. No trace of him was to be found. Soon after this, Toby was hit by shrapnel when he was quite near me and I saw at once that there was no hope. It was hard to see Toby go - everything else was impersonal, almost unreal, but with Toby one was up against it." Moll was awarded a single cap on 27 August 1910, one against the British Isles team on their 1910 tour of South Africa. He played for the Transvaal team.	NIGHTINGALE, Percy Athelston Awards: Third Class of the Order of the Crown of Johore, Fourth Class of the Royal Siamese Order of the White Elephant; Formerly District Surgeon and Medical Officer, Victoria (Masvingo). Lieut. Louis de Villiers Wiener, R.A.F., eldest son of Mr. F. R. Wiener, of Newlands, Cape Town, joined the original band of young South Africans recruited by Capt. Miller in February, 1917, when he was in his B.A. year at the South African College. In June of the same year he was commissioned, and some time afterwards went to France. It was during one of his flights that his engine was hit, but, in spite of this, he managed to land, but he suffered injuries which necessitated his going to hospital. A few months later he was back in France, and in April, 1918, after returning from a photographic flight, he encountered the famous von Richthofen "Circus," with the result that his observer was killed and the machine set "in a vertical spin." This was at an altitude of 10,000 ft., and his enemies, thinking that they had accounted for another British machine, flew back to their lines. At 8,000 ft., however, he regained control, only to be set into another spin of a few thousand feet, when he once more steadied his machine, and was about to make a landing when he went "dud," and fell 100 ft. He was picked up very much bruised and unconscious, but made a complete recovery some months later. After some home service in Wiltshire he returned to the front, and on November 4, with two other machines, he set out to take photographs over the German lines. He was last seen at about a height of 16,000 ft. None of the three machines returned, and Lieut. Wiener was posted missing from that date. Later his observer's grave was found near the Maas and one to "Lieutenant Wyner."
